Designer

Michele De Lucchi

Born in 1951, Michele De Lucchi has been a leading figure on the Italian architecture and design scene, and has also conquered the international scene since the mid-1980s. De Lucchi's work is constantly evolving: from architecture to product design, from academic work to corporate image consultancy. For Alessi he has designed objects with an immediately iconic design such as the Pulcina coffee maker and the Plissé series of domestic appliances.

“With the skilful and creative use of pleating, fashion designers shape fabrics and create clothes like sculptural works of art. Plissé is shaped starting from a pleated sheet of paper and crafted by Alessi like a beautiful sartorial creation. The folds give form to the shape, they sculpt it, they structure it, because a form without folds is only a volume without form. The pleats transform simple two-dimensional sheets into three-dimensional objects.”

Plissé

Pleats give volume to clothes that communicate lightness and happiness. Pleating is a very iconic form that has been borrowed in this series of household appliances for its cheerful and festive spirit.

“The pleats derive from the fashion world of the fifties and sixties when skirts were pleated to create a beautiful effect of fluttering and airy fabric. Today it remains a very contemporary touch.”

“Objects are a record of the time when they were made and represent changes in taste and what contemporary means. When you look at an object, the spirit of its historical moment can be perceived, maybe through its colour, line or materials. What is certain is that objects evoke a life style and are evidence of how people lived, their habits and their tastes in the period the objects belong to. This is a quality typical of Alessi products. Alessi objects are not utensils but they represent contemporary culture. They are beautiful to look at because their worth lies not only in their function, but in their evocative power as well.”

A MODEL KETTLE

Having become part of the Alessi catalogue in 2018, the nature of the Plissé kettle's distinctive design is apparent in its name: an object in which functional aspects are translated into a series of formal details with captivating lines, as elegant and light as a haute couture dress.

DEDICATED TO

An object that combines functional aspects with a plastic and fascinating design that reveals the creator's architectural background, as well as his passion for the handicraft and for sculpture. Like a fabric that a thick pleating transforms into a three-dimensional shape, it is reminiscent of an haute couture dress, a beautiful object to be left on display on your kitchen top.
